Making a difference

For the 14th consecutive year, U.S. News & World Report has ranked Phoenix Children's among the nation's "Best Children's Hospitals." The health system was also named the No. 1 children's hospital in Arizona and 3rd in the Southwest region. It is the only children's hospital in Arizona ever to be recognized by U.S. News & World Report, offering more than 75 pediatric specialties and providing inpatient, outpatient, trauma, emergency, and urgent care to children and families.

Additionally, Phoenix Children's Center for Heart Care is the 5th largest pediatric cardiac program in the country. With expertise in more than a dozen pediatric cardiology subspecialties, the Center for Heart Care provides advanced care for infants, children, and teens with complex heart conditions. Stories of hope and healing

Families facing unexpected medical issues, complex procedures, and lengthy treatment plans need a facility they can turn to for expert care and emotional support. Phoenix Children's strives to provide programs and services that truly understand the road ahead — and behind.

Vivian's medical journey started just as soon as her precious life began. Her first 70 days on this Earth were spent in the Cardiovascular Intensive Care Unit (CVICU) at Phoenix Children's Hospital. Just before she was one week old, Vivian went in for her first of two open heart surgeries. Her time at PCH was filled with countless unknowns, but thanks to their amazing care, Vivian is now a vibrant two-year-old who brings her light to everyone she meets. Warning: Her smile is highly contagious!

With a diagnosis of Heart Failure due to Dilated Cardiomyopathy at just 12 weeks old, Miela has experienced much care at Phoenix Children's. After trying to treat her condition with medication, it was ultimately decided that she needed a heart transplant. Today, Miela is a sassy and eclectic nine-year-old whose interests range from Barbies to Metallica. Whether she's feeling rough-and-tumble with her brothers or ready to snuggle with her mother, this sweet girl is engaged in all aspects of life and is even actively participating in the decisions made about her medical care.

Karsten was 9 months old when he was diagnosed with Aortic Valve Stenosis with a Bi-Cuspid Aortic Valve. At 16, he had his first surgery, and at 22 he was only the second patient in Arizona to undergo the Ozaki procedure. Now, at 24, Karsten is living a full, healthy adult life with a love for traveling and experiencing new cultures. To ensure he receives the most effective, life-long care, he is still eligible for follow-up visits and treatment from the staff at Phoenix Children's who have been there along his entire journey. Once a PCH kid, always a PCH kid!

These stories are just a few of the many that celebrate a hope-filled outcome and successful treatment at Phoenix Children's. The annual Pima Center Community Walk helps support children who need the best medical care in Arizona, all the way into adulthood.
